Continuation of 10. Other: The amendments to claims 20 and 23 correct typographical errors. The applicant argues that the composition of CN 1069432 is a binder and not a release composition. However,none of the examined claims refers to the composition of the instant applicantion as a release composition. Claim 23 refers to the composition facilitating the release of sand from the mold pattern surfaces. This is the same quality as the composition of '432 which says that the composition used can separate cast part from its sand mold and can effectively prevent the defects of sand attachment (p 10 of transation).
